But each merciful oblation,
Seed of pity wisely sown.
What we give in self-negation,
We may safely call our own;
For the treasure freely given
Is the treasure that we hoard,
Since the angels keep in heaven
What is lent unto the Lord!

FROM DAY TO DAY. HEAVENLY TREASURE. "What I spent I had; What I kept I lost; What I gave I have." —Old Epitaph,

Every coin of earthly treasure
We have lavished upon earth,
For our simply worldly pleasure,
May be reckoned something worth;
For the spending was not losing
Though the purchase were but small;
It has perished with the using;
We have had it—that is all!

When we turn to dust again,
Though our avaries may blind us.
We have gathered quite in vain;
Since we neither can direct it.
By the winds of fortune tossed.
Nor in other worlds expect it,
What we hoarded we have lost!

PURELY ORNAMENTAL. Lady of the modish waist.
Lady of the modish shoes,
Just to keep your form encased
In such garments as you use
Must make some man work his best,
Get out ere the day is born;
Come and go with little rest.
Crowding night and crowding morn.

Some man has to dig and sweat,

ome man has to dig and sweat.
Studying the ways of trade.
Ill his life with care and fret:
But when you are thus arrayed ou're a sight as you go by
To make male hearts palpitate,
will not deny that I
Think you're looking simply great.

Would you know the thought that knocks
At my man's heart's citade!
When I view your shining locks
Built up so extremely well.
When I see your dainty feet
In your high-heeled slippers go
Twinkling up and down the street
Hunting bargains, to and fro?: When I hear the silken swish
Of the things the world sees not
There is just one little wish,
Just one question I have got
On my mind—I would not task
You o'er much, your grace I beg—
But 'tis this that I would ask;
Lady, can you boll an egg?
